

"JACK MORMON" A USEFUL MAN

He Can Be Depended on to Defend the Brethren at All Times.

HE GETS HIS REWARD IN PETTY PREFERENCES

How Governor Brady Bemeaned His Office by Fulsome Flattery of Parkinson.

BY C. E. ARNEY.

Special to The Tribune.

HEISE, Ida., Aug. 12.—There has been some speculation of late among the newcomers to Idaho as to who should be entitled to be known as "Jack Mormon."

There are many erroneous notions about "Jack Mormon," the most prevalent one being that an "apostate Mormon" is a "Jack Mormon." This is as far from the correct notion of the situation as the idea that a "Jack Mormon" is one who through apathy does not pay his tithes.

An apostate Mormon is one who absolutely, of his own volition, leaves the church and refuses to countenance any of its teachings or to in any manner whatever contribute to its success. In the earlier difficulties in Idaho with the Mormons, a few apostatized and remained true to the departure from the religion of their birth. Some among my acquaintances became Episcopalians, some Methodists, but chiefly they remained entirely outside of active church work of any sort.

The apathetic Mormon who does not pay his tithing is not a "Jack Mormon." He is a poor Mormon. He has little standing in his church and is seldom given any preference whatever. He believes the doctrines of the church but either from worthlessness or from stinginess is not a contributor to a tenth of his regular earnings.

The Servicable "Jack." But the most interesting type is the "Jack Mormon." He is a non-Mormon who defends the Mormon. To the scheming, questionable, crooked Mormon—the one who wishes to practice polygamy, or to exercise influence in politics, the "Jack Mormon" is of particular value.

He goes out and apologizes for the Mormon. He lies for the Mormon. He excuses the thing the Mormon does which is intolerable, and gives out a plausible reason as an excuse, an apology for the act.

If a Mormon is living in polygamy with a wife on either corner of the street, the "Jack Mormon" will walk up and down the street and chide men who deplore the relation. He will deliver plausible sentences like this: "You do not know; how can you know that 'Nephi' practices polygamy? It may look suspicious, but you should know before you make a charge so serious as to reflect with discredit upon the morality of your neighbor."

If "Nephi" is the strong man set aside to go to a convention, he chooses this "Jack Mormon" to go along with him all the time. He is the best of affidavits man. At the convention "Nephi" is accused of being a polygamist and quickly "Mr. Jack Mormon" is called in to lie for him. He rushes to the job of the man, and he says like this: "Now, boys, you all know me. You know I am no Mormon. You know I was raised a 'hard-shell Baptist' and I live among these people. They are the best people in the world. They practice polygamy. 'Nephi' is not a polygamist and I tell you, boys, some one will get into trouble if they do not stop suggesting bad things about these good folks. They are the best, the purest, the soberest, and the most patriotic, and, boys, during all my life among them—and you know me—I have never seen a Mormon take a drink of liquor, very few of them drink tea and coffee, and they are as honest as men can be."

How many, many men about conventions, state and county, have heard that thing about William Budge and Walter Age of Paris, Arthur Hart and George C. Parkinson from Preston, and other high churchmen who have brought along to conventions "Jack Mormons" to do their bidding. To lie for them!

The American citizen of Idaho today has the highest admiration for a real Mormon in comparison with a "Jack Mormon." The Mormon pretends to believe in a doctrine. He has a faith in his leaders and in the teachings they announce. He is to the manor born!

But the "Jack Mormon" knows instinctively all about the Mormons. He is more familiar than anybody with their polygamy; their control in politics; their commercial dictation; and oftentimes their absolute disloyalty. Yet he trails along in idolatrous devotion and lies for them; offers excuses, beyond the possibilities of the law, to do, and too with greater effect among the uninformed.

In remuneration for his services he is rewarded for merit! He is favored! He is taken care of by the state.

Mayhap, he is made a sheriff, sent to the legislature, given a lucrative state appointment, or made into a governor! A "Jack Mormon" is always obedient and in order to gain high station, devotion must be pure and his obedience prompt and of that stultifying order to do justice to the particular situation.

Brady and Parkinson.

Less than two months ago Governor James H. Brady went over to Preston to give an address to the students of the Mormon stake academy. He was fully aware of the lack of character of George C. Parkinson, president of the Onondaga stake of Zion, and that Parkinson had been discharged as a member of the state board of regents of Idaho's university by his distinguished co-partner in politics, Frank R. Gooding, because of his lies against the people of the Onondaga Irrigation district. He knew that Parkinson had ridden on railway passes all over southern Idaho and charged the fare for these trips to the state university; to the Onondaga Irrigation district, and as well to the Utah-Idaho Sugar Beet company.

Inflamed Kidneys

Have you had "kidney trouble" (inflammation of the kidneys) for six months? If so, recognized authorities declare it incurable. (U. S. deaths now nearly 90,000 annually). Call for free list and literature that may prolong or save your life. Schramm-Johnson's drug stores.

a specie of petty larceny away beneath the dignity of a first-class embezzler of a public fund.

Yet with this knowledge—and Governor Brady had it—he went to the home of George C. Parkinson at Preston and shared his hospitality and at the bidding (of course) of this psychopathic hidden culture, the object being to aid him to regild a tarnished name, he called the attention of the young people of the Preston stake academy to the beautiful "Christian character" of George C. Parkinson. But now Parkinson is out and injured. He is exposed. He is overtaken by the species of publicity which serves to destroy the germs of secret dark lantern petty theft. Confidence in him is gone from the hearts of his parishioners. He is without influence! He is pointed out as the burglar of the funds of those who trusted him as an ecclesiast. His sleek, slimy trail of corruption, of falsifying public records, of defiance to the law, and of political jobbery, is heading toward another climate.

The aims of the governor in eulogizing Parkinson have fallen flat. It was a cheap bubble, bursting on the air this air. This effort will injure him now that it appears that the day of Parkinson's power is past; he is gone! His influence passed into the dust on Monday morning, Jan. 18, when 150 strong men and true-Mormons of the earnest, down-trodden stripe—marched down the aisle of the assembly hall of the Onondaga stake of Zion academy, took their places on the benches as the aggrieved people of the Onondaga stake of Zion, against the crooked "cushion-footed" president.

The governor had no sort of friendship for Parkinson. His words were with the Judas ring which fell on the ears of those young children of the Preston stake academy.

They were words devoid of sentiment and full of craft. But they are alive today to react on their exponent. They serve now to dovetail as examples of the insincerity of purposes which guides the politician when he is in the saddle of this good state have seen fit to elevate to the executive chair of the commonwealth.

Comparison Invited.

Can the men of twenty years in Idaho cast a backward glance at some of the executives Idaho has had, and measure them with some of the acts of this present executive? Look at the moment at the state land board "cover-up" at its secret session last spring; at the postponement of the Fremont county land matter of two months ago; at the removal of the interests of the people living under the Big Lost River land and Irrigation company, and then think of ex-Governor Shoup, Steunenberg and Morrison!

Would either of these have permitted the speculations of their associates which he has permitted?

Would either of these have allowed a bonding company to violate the express terms of a contract for a period of months, which defilement meant the loss of crops and the danger of the loss of life and property of a whole community?

Should he be above suspicion.

In the office of state superintendent of public instruction the people of Idaho are entitled to one writer is removed entirely from the faintest taint of suspicion as to moral turpitude in the official capacity.

In Preston, Ida., two polygamous wives were being teaching school for several years at public expense. The fraction of the rules of decency and of the laws of Idaho—which requires a "good moral character" as a prerequisite to a teacher's certificate, requires this thing to stop! It is entirely within the easy grasp of the state superintendent to accomplish this end. Luella Parkinson Cowley was one of these plural wives, and Mrs. Bailey the other. There are a hundred men in Preston who will verify the accuracy of the statement and none to deny it.

Sincerity of official action is a requirement in Idaho. A pure moral atmosphere for the boys and girls of the state is available at the August primaries and at the November election. Politics must not be played with sacred beliefs and with sacred morals of the commonwealth.

In his endeavor to "slobber" all over his audience, and surely because it would serve to tickle the ear drums of the believers in the employment of these polygamists in the Preston schools, the great (?) governor of this state eulogized the schools of Onondaga county as "on a moral plane equally lofty with the schools of the other counties of Idaho."

It may be questionable whether the voters of Idaho will settle these officials in August or postpone the ordeal until November.

That they will settle it for the right is my measure of the verdict of the Idaho jury.

been used by the government or by anybody else in connection with his actions. The witness said he refused to turn over his holdings to the government, and upon demand, with a view of protecting the governor, himself and the attorneys for the tribe.

Chickasaw treasurer has turned over his books and the officials have been indicted.

In response to questions by Flynn, Scott said he had not at any time been indicted after he finally turned over the books. He distributed in detail the manner of making appropriations for the payment of tribal expenses by the Choctaw council and how the treasurer made payment.

McMurray, in view of the suggestions made by Representative Saunders and Stephens and Senator Gore that no itemized expense accounts were ever filed by him, told the committee that such accounts were on file in the department of justice and in the interior department and are accessible. Chairman Burke said he was aware of this fact.

A number of Indians testified to having signed telegrams sent to Washington approving of McMurray's conduct. McMurray also has been at all the sessions of the investigation. He may be related what he knows concerning what inducements, if any, were made to the Indians before they signed the contracts.

MAN'S NOSE IS SO BIG IT MUST BE CUT OFF

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12.—Surgeons at the city hospital believe that John Lohray, a cooper, who applied for treatment last night, has the largest nose in the world. The ponderous nasal appendage is six and three-quarters inches wide. It hangs over his lips and interferes when he eats or talks. Lohray is suffering from elephantiasis of the nose. The nose will be amputated.
